Re: Attempted Filing of Documents

Dear Keith Allen Mauger:

The Ashtabula County Clerk of Court's Office has received the enclosed documents that were mailed to us. However, these documents are missing a case number, clear instructions for service, and payment of court costs (or an affidavit of indigence).

This office processes and records all filings for the Ashtabula County Court of Common Pleas, both in the Domestic Relations Division and the General Division, as well as for the Eleventh District Court of Appeals. We can only accept filings that are related to cases that have been initiated or transferred to these courts.

According to RC 2701.20, the Clerk is required to refuse any documents that are unauthorized, not necessary for filing, or if the Clerk has reasonable grounds to believe the document is materially false or fraudulent, or if it lacks the required filing fee. Please note that this division does not have a responsibility to inspect, evaluate, or investigate documents presented for filing or for docketing and indexing.

For the reasons stated above, these documents have not been filed in any matter before any Ashtabula County Court, and we are returning them to you. Before initiating any legal action, we strongly encourage you to seek legal advice. of legal counsel.

Regards,

April Daniels

Ashtabula County Clerk of Courts
